

Season 3 Episode 7

Rogue Internet

In an office conference in broad daylight, executives stand around a display that contains a shiny dark purple cylinder. One of the executives said, "What's that?" The lead executive said, "It is hard to secure plans for new toys these days considering how many times toy companies steal other toy company's ideas. This is a new state-of-the-art data bank. It is perfect for the 21st century. You are looking at the future right here. The data contained in this cylinder is so confidential that none of us are supposed to know what it contains. It is so secret that not even I know what lurks in this thing." The executives give confused looks. One of the executives said, "Is that, Mason?" All the executives turn to the window and they see Mason is dressed in black and he is stuck to it. Mason takes out a fusion cutter and he cuts a whole in the window and he enters the office. Mason uses rocket boosters in his feet to zip to the cylinder and grab it and zip out the window.

Mason runs down the street with it. Security saucers hover over Mason. They fire out large plasma beams and they decimate parts of the street but they miss Mason. Mason keeps running down the street and he dodges the plasma blasts. Mason cuts one corner on the street and then he cuts another and he lures the saucers into crashing into each other and they both get destroyed. Mason jumps in joy and he zips back to the lab. Mason is in his lab and he places the cylinder into a machine and his computer connects with it and it sends information to an unknown place.

Armored cops kick down the door to Mason's lab and they aim their weapons at Mason. The cops said, "You are under arrest for stealing a top-secret data cylinder." Mason said, "Beat it!" Mason takes out a remote and he is about to press a button on it. Jason enters the scene and he walks in front of the armored cops. Jason looks at them and then he looks at Mason and Jason said, "What's going on in here? Did your latest invention anger the pigs again?" Jason looks out the window and he sees the cops brought killer robots and tanks to surround Mason's lab. Jason said, "This looks heavy." One of the giant cop robots gets its legs slashed off and it falls and crumbles. Another robot gets the same thing. A sword zips through some of the tanks and they explode. The sword flies into the hand of Ultraverse Keith. Ultraverse Keith fights off some of the nightmare cops. He then zips into Mason's lab and he cuts a lot of useless molding off the ceiling and they fall and they separate Jason and Mason from the cops. Ultraverse Keith lands in front of Jason and Mason.

Jason said, "Hey, it's that Keith again. You know, the good one." Mason scratches his head and he said, "What is going on here?" Keith said, "You have been controlled. There is a serious emergency going on here. It involves the Ultraverse. I need the two of you to help me. It is urgent we leave at once. This was an Ultraverse related conflict so I can undo this afterwards." Ultraverse Keith opens up a portal and Jason and Mason jump in and Keith follows and seals the portal.

Jason and Mason appear at a dark temple-like place. Jason said, "Where are we?" Keith said, "You are in the Ultraverse. This is the headquarters for the Ultraverse Monks. You are safe here." Mason said, "This is all sudden. What do you mean by, 'safe place?'" Ultraverse Keith said, (Imagery shows what Ultraverse Keith is narrating) "In another universe, Bingo toys rules the world. The entire economy of the world is dependent on the sales of toys and it is becoming hard to compete since that's the world's only industry. One of the owners of Bingo toys' greatest competitor, Fogle Toys, is at a loss for ideas. He needs toy ideas from another universe. He got his genius son to program a computer that can access the internet in other universes. His son discovered your universe and he discovered the genius of, Mason. He could not go to the universe himself but he figured out a way to connect and interact with it through the internet. He also invented a robot called, Rogue that can use brainwaves to control people in other universes. This kid used this robot to control Mason's mind and make him steal plans for new toys and upload them to the computer's internet and have them sent to his universe so his dad can make more toys with original ideas and beat the giant." Jason said, "Sales of toys is what caused all this?" Ultraverse Keith said, "Exactly." Jason punches his fists together and he said, "I want to find this boy and give him a piece of my mind." Ultraverse Keith said, "All in good time. We just need to get to his universe and find his lab and sabotage it and make sure he can never do any of this again. Once the matter is solved, the boy will be sent to a prison in the Ultraverse where he will be tried for his crimes."

Jason, Mason, and Keith go into a portal and they arrive in the desired universe. They look around and they see buildings are built to resemble famous toys. Jason and Mason are looking up at the architecture. Keith said, "Don't let the innocence of this place fool you. This place is quite hostile." A homeless man comes up to them and he said, "You got any toys?" Mason said, "No." Jason said, "We are toyless." The homeless man smashes Jason and Mason and he pins them to a wall and he said, "Look punks, you will give me toys or else..." Ultraverse Keith shows his sword to the homeless man. Ultraverse Keith said, "You will let them go." The homeless man puts Jason and Mason down and he leaves the scene.

Jason and Mason look over a map of the place and they try to locate where the kid is. Jason said, "Do you know what the kid looks like?" Ultraverse Keith said, "I've never seen the kid before but something tells me that we will know when we see him." On a TV on the side of the street, "A boy appears on the screen and he said, "Hello, I am Borden Fogle, the son of the owner of Fogle toys. I am proud to announce this new line of toys. This is Rogue the robot. He can talk and play games and even do your chores. You don't need to do chores anymore." Jason and Mason's eyes go big and they see the kid with the mushroom looking robot on the TV. Ultraverse Keith said, "That's the one." Borden said, "To order your very own, write to the address on the screen with a check for @45,000." Ultraverse Keith takes out a camera and he takes a photo of the address. Ultraverse Keith said, "We found where the toy plant is located. There could be more of these Rogues and they can be manipulating more people in other universes."

Borden is at his play bench and he is with Rogue the robot. Rogue said, "What will it be today, my master?" Borden said, "I want to start a funny war in another universe." Borden sets up his Rogue toys and he connects the play bench to a computer. It transmits signals to a peaceful seaming universe. Suddenly, the people of the peaceful seaming universe get suddenly angry at each other and a downright battle scene with action robots and tanks happens. Borden said, "Who would have thought that war toys would be the best toys there are." Borden's father enters the scene and he said, "That is what the people in that universe we stole from thought. They seem to have a thing for war toys. Now we are the first in our universe to have them. We can rule the world and then some with these plans."

Jason, Mason, and Keith are standing on the roof of the toy building. Keith cuts a whole in the ceiling and they jump in. They hide in the vents and crawl through them and they find a factory line. Keith breaks the vent and jumps in the factory with Jason and Mason. Keith said, "We need to find the controls for the place and shut them down. Jason and Mason look around the place. They see black walls with outlines of Rogue robots in them. Jason said, "Why do you suppose the walls look like that?" Mason said, "Beats me." Jason and Mason scout around the place and they find nothing. Jason said, "How do you suppose they find the controls in this place?" Jason rests his elbow on the side of the wall and the walls activate. They dispense Rogue robots and they target Jason, and Mason and Ultraverse Keith. The robots said, "Intruders detected. Situation is critical pulp." They aim their rocket launchers at Jason and Mason. Ultraverse Keith slices that robot into pieces and he stabs another one and it explodes. Jason and Mason run away and they end up on the assembly line. The robots there come to life and they begin targeting Jason and Mason. Jason and Mason run for their lives and the robot fires a rocket and it hits the floor next to them and Jason and Mason are sent flying off the assembly line and they land in a shipment truck. The truck drives off. Ultraverse Keith runs to the truck and he can't keep up. Ultraverse Keith throws a tracking device and it sticks to the truck.

The truck drives to a rich house on the outskirts of the city. The truck drives into a garage and it is unloaded. Jason and Mason are poured out of the truck with the rest of the toys in the main foyer of the house and the owner of the Fogle company and his son Borden are there. Borden said, "Jason and Mason?" Jason and Mason said, "Borden?" Borden's father said, "You know each other?" Borden said, "Mason is that kid I controlled in that other universe to get us the plans. He is probably here for revenge. He cannot reach our lab." More Rogue robots come out and all the other war toys activate. Jason said, "You don't stand a chance against me. I know Kung Fu." Jason does a Kung Fu attack on a toy and Jason breaks his fist. Jason falls to the floor in pain and his fist has a heartbeat. Mason said, "You can't just destroy or interfere with other universes like this." Borden said, "Sure I can." Mason said, "It is not a good idea. Listen, we can talk this over. We can come to a truce." Borden said, "Truce, I am just a kid. Do you think I know what that is?" Mason said, "You seem to be smart like me and I knew what truces were when I was five." Borden said, "How about this..." Borden sends the original Rogue robot into the foyer and it takes out an antenna and it sends brainwaves at Mason and it starts controlling Mason. Borden commands the brainwaves to keep hitting Mason in the face. Mason makes a fist and he punches himself in the face over and over again. Borden said, "Stop hitting yourself." Jason gets up and he kicks the remote out of Borden's hand and Jason takes control of Rogue. Jason looks at the controller and it looks like a jumbled mess of buttons. Jason presses random buttons and the war toys come after Jason. Some of them are small and weak and Jason fights them off easy. Bigger stronger ones enter the scene and they gang-beat Jason. Jason loses his grip on the remote and Borden gets it back. Borden said, "You lose. You will both suffer the consequences, when toys turn."

Ultraverse Keith is still at the toy plant. He hides around walls and he avoids detection. Keith sees the factory is still active. Keith said, "Think, where could the controls be? It must be in a place where we would least expect it. Where is a place where we would least expect it?" Keith happens to be standing in front of the door to the bathroom. Keith goes in and he sees the controls to the entire factory are on the wall of the bathroom. Keith shuts them all down and the factory loses power. Keith sees a remote command switch and he shuts it off too. All the toys at Borden's house deactivate. Jason sees the toys stopped. Jason said, "What just happened?" Mason said, "It looks like you've just lost power to your army." Jason and Mason destroy the useless evil toys. Keith looks at his watch and he sees there is a map on it. The map shows where the tracking device he planted on the truck went to.

Jason and Mason stand over the kid. Mason said, "You have a lot of explaining to do." Jason said, (in a Mexican accent) "You've got some splanning to do." Borden said, "Those new toys were networked so they will all malfunction if you destroy the master controls. This Rogue is the original and he is not replaceable. He is on his own system." Rogue's antenna comes out and it sends signals to the minds of Jason and Mason. Jason and Mason start fighting with each other and a fight cloud is formed. They smack each other into the opposite walls and they get stuck in them. Jason falls to the floor. Mason falls to the floor in pain. Mason's head rapidly expands. Borden said, "I am sending loads of information into you. You can't beat the brainwaves. They can trick you into anything. You just have to believe it to be real."

Ultraverse Keith crashes through a window and he has his sword armed. Ultraverse Keith said, "Back off. You are under arrest under the authority of the Ultraverse for committing crimes against other universes." Borden said, "You and what army?" Rogue goes to fight Keith. Rogue uses his arms as swords and Keith duels with them. Rogue smacks Keith in the face and he holds Keith upside down. Keith drops his sword and he is being held too high to reach it. Mason sees the sword on the floor and he remembers Borden saying, "If you believe it." Mason said, "This is too ridiculous to be true. Mason fights the brainwaves. Mason goes against everything and he gets up and he slowly limps over to the sword. Mason grabs onto the sword and he cuts off the antenna on Rogue's head. Jason and Mason no longer feel any pain. Mason rapidly swings the sword at Rogue and he beats the crap out of Rogue. Mason cuts Rogue's head off and he cuts up Rogue's body. Mason holds Rogue's head up to Borden.

Mason has a deranged look on his face and he said, "Is this what you wanted?" Borden begins to cry. Jason said, "Don't pull this crap on us." Keith gets his sword back and he uses it to lift Borden by his shirt. Keith said, "You are going downtown with me, downtown Ultraverse that is." Keith said, "Go to the lab and delete all his contents." Jason and Mason go to Borden's lab and they delete all the contents there. Meanwhile in other universes, peace treaties are signed and they all agree to not go to war with each other ever again. Keith throws Borden in a prison cell at the Ultraverse temple. Jason said, "Is that a bit harsh? He's just a kid." Keith said, "Nothing is too harsh for kids. They need to learn what is right at the youngest age possible. I have undone the damages caused to your universe. They will have no memory of the last few days. You may return. Your work here is done." Mason said, "Thanks for clearing up my name." Keith said, "My life is dedicated to doing anything to help anyone in an Ultraverse related injustice." Jason and Mason walk through a portal and they return to their universe.